Holton who is in charge of arrangements. Climaxed by a patriotic service in town hall the day's events will also include a parade led by the fifty-piece Greenfield high school band, the decoration of the G. A. R. and American Legion tablets, and decoration ceremonies at the Center cemetery where many of Northfield's war dead are buried. The Rev. Robert J. County Quota $470 For Chinese Relief

Frank L. Boyden, Chairman of the Franklin County Chapter, American Red Cross has been advised that the China Relief Fund quota for the County is $470.00 including such remittances as it has already made in response to the January appeal.

John W. Haigis, Chairman of the Chapter's Disaster Relief Committee, states that the task of completing this fund is not a burdensome one if each community does its part, and small contributions will assure the Chapter of reaching its goal by June 15th. Contributions may be sent to the chapter headquarters, 15 Bank Row, Greenfield, or to your bank.

Chairman Norman H. Davis of the Red Cross reports that $170,000 has already been given through the Red Cross and $200,000 has been appropriated from the Red Cross treasury for the relief of suffering civilians in China. One million dollars is the amount sought for this relief as America's contribution.

The need that exists for our help in many sections of China is appalling. Men, women and children are dying for lack of adequate food and medical assistance. Hundreds of refugee stations have been established in larger cities but for lack of funds little has been done for rural populations or those whose villages have been entirely destroyed, with loss of all personal property and complete destruction of growing crops.

Six Win Prizes In "Pest" Campaign

Over fifty contestants in the tent caterpillar campaign of our public schools gathered at the Town Hall Monday evening for a social hour at which refreshments were served and to hear the results of the effort and the awarding of the prizes. The committee in charge of the affair were Miss Blanche Corser and Miss Helen Vorce. Irving J. Lawrence, President, and Grove W. Deming, Secretary of the Garden Club were present as well as Fred S. Merrifield, Vice President and William F. Hoehn, Treasurer of the Village Improvement Society. These two organizations offered similar prizes of $3 first prize to two highest contestants, $2 to two second highest and $1 to third highest. In all it was reported that 10,695 clusters had been destroyed. First prizes went to Olive Fisher, of Center school grade 7, with 2718 clusters, and to Harry Wing of Center school grade 8 with 2629 clusters. Second prizes went to Ernest Kennedy of Center school grade 6 with 2378 clusters and to Mary Fisher of No. 3 school with 1490 clusters. Third prizes went to Rita Mellow of Center school grade 1 with 786 clusters and to Harlan Randall of the West school, grade 6 with 300 clusters.

Irving J. Lawrence, President of the School Board made the presentation. While the number of clusters destroyed were not as large as the campaign of last year, yet the number of pupils engaged was considerably greater. It was a good job well done.

Golden Anniversary

The Northfield Hotel is celebrating fifty years of hospitality this season. Opened in 1888 it has offered to its guests the comfort and satisfaction of a home atmosphere and has made many friends and kept them. The original building has been more than doubled in size and its facilities greatly extended and modernized during these years. The present management is in the hands of the Treadway chain of "Real New England Inns" and A. Gordon Moody is the resident manager. The present property comprises the main hotel building, the Chateau and a garage with 235 acres of land. Beside offering accommodations for a short or longer stay, the attractions are many to interest one during either the winter or summer season. The hotel has prepared a special folder for the anniversary year giving views in and about the hotel and grounds which anyone may have for the asking.

It will be an interesting day at Hermon with many friends turning out for the event. Let us hope that pleasant weather will prevail.

Gets Photographs Of Youth Hosteling

Last week-end was a lively one for the AYH. Fritz Goro, photographer for Life magazine came to Northfield Saturday and Sunday to take pictures of hostellers and hosteling. He took pictures in many of the beautiful settings in and around Northfield, including many scenes along the trail which leads by Pulpit rock. Mr. Goro entered into the spirit of hosteling and actually accompanied hikers and bikers along the trails in order to get natural "shots." Sunday afternoon he could be found in a fallboat on the river taking river scenes and pictures of horseback riding along the banks. Lawrence Quinlan very kindly offered his horses to the hostellers for the occasion. He and his wife made up part of the group.

Mr. Goro was particularly impressed with the fine group of young people he found at the hostel and found that many of their faces made interesting studies. There was a group of Girl Scouts from New Haven, a group of high school boys and girls with their teachers from West Hartford, another group of high school age from New Britain, Conn., and a goodly number of hostellers from Smith, Mt. Holyoke and Amherst. Mr. Goro also took pictures at the East Colrain hostel of Mt. Hermon Outing club boys who had hiked there for the week-end.

Sunday Speakers

Dr. Howard Chandler Robbins, professor of Pastoral Theology at General Theological Seminary, New York, will speak in Sage Chapel on Sunday morning, May 29. At the five o'clock vesper service the new Seminary Church Cabinet will be installed. The installation will be followed by a communion service.

Mount Hermon will hear Gaylord W. Douglass, secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War, of Springfield, at the 10:30 morning service. The Rev. Frank E. Dunn of Peabody, Mount Hermon's alumni secretary elect, will speak at vespers.

Repairs Close Bridge A Brattleboro Detour

The large iron bridge across the Connecticut River entering Brattleboro from New Hampshire will be closed next Tuesday for several weeks while necessary repairs will be made to the floor of the bridge. It is said however that the footpath will be kept open and that arrangements will be made for parking of cars on the east end of the bridge. Those desiring however, to enter Brattleboro with their cars may do so by taking the detour up the Wantastiquet road to the Chesterfield bridge and, after crossing, come down from the north. This would involve about four miles more of travel. Northfield motorists going direct to Brattleboro will do well to travel via the Schell bridge up through Vernon. Care should be taken in advising tourists which route to take as much depends upon their destination. It is likely a sign may be placed at the foot of Pine street directing traffic. The floor of the bridge is to have a steel fabricated and concrete surface.

The estate of the late Amy B. Alexander of Springfield has been valued at $240,333 according to the inventory filed in the Registry of Probate of Hampden County. Her will included bequests to Northfield interests.

June Waits

Apple blossoms,
Blue birds call,
Lazy winds,
White petals fall.

Low, evening star,
Shadows long,
From the hedge
The thrushes song.

Budding lilacs,
By the way,
Sweetly speed
Departing May.

Fragrance over
Garden gates,
Born at dawn
A June rose waits.

Leaves Pastorate Greenfield Church Retires Home Here

Rev. Dr. Herbert F. Randolph, whose summer home has been in Northfield for many years, retires from an active service of forty-five years in the ministry of the Methodist Church and from his pastorate of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Greenfield this week. In 1934 Dr. Randolph resigned his pastorate in Scranton, Pa., to accept the work in Greenfield and he concluded his pastoral work with the payment of a large debt and the burning of the mortgage. At the recent Lynn conference, Rev. G. Albert Higgins of Everett was appointed to succeed him and he will begin his duties next Sunday. Aside from enjoying his beautiful home and magnificent gardens on lower Main Street, it is not known in what other activities he may be engaged, but it is quite certain that he will be much in demand for addresses and other work. Dr. Randolph could not be reached for any statement as he is out of town.

Virginia Girls' Camp Will Soon Open Here

The Virginia fresh air camp will soon open its doors again to welcome under the supervision of Miss Harper, the girls from New York City as it has done for many years past. On Saturday afternoon, Aug. 6 the big annual benefit concert will be given in the Auditorium during the period of the General conference. Northfield friends who supported the effort last year financially will be interested to learn that Miss Harper was enabled to buy six dozen needed blankets and $25 worth of playground equipment. Local folks are again asked to plant those extra rows of vegetables for the camp, to save and donate their magazines, also old coffee cans, scraps of yarn, and bathing suits and sneakers. All are useful.

Mrs. Louise Barnes LaBella, who spent the winter as hostess at the Windsor Hotel in St. Petersburg, Florida, and who has been visiting relatives in Scranton, Pa., the past few weeks has returned to her summer cottage, Sumac Lodge, on Rustic Ridge, for the season.

County GOP Women Fire Opening Gun Last Friday Evening

The Franklin County Women's Republican club received the Parker trophy at a dinner meeting held at the Mansion House in Greenfield last Friday evening for having the highest percentage in registration and election work of the various counties in western Massachusetts during the past election season. Rev. Margaret Barnard, for eight years president of the County association also retired, and was made an honorary president.

Mrs. Ross L. Spencer, Northfield district chairman, was on the nominating committee which presented the list of officers for the ensuing year and they were unanimously elected. Mrs. Martin E. Vorce of Northfield was chosen recording secretary. The other officers are:

Honorary president, Mrs. A. D. Potter and Rev. Margaret Barnard of Greenfield; president, Mrs. Harry Earle of Warwick; first vice-president, Mrs. James A. Gunn of Turners Falls; second vice-president, Mrs. W. B. Du Mont of Greenfield; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Daisy Montague of Sunderland; treasurer, Mrs. H. G. Sells of Greenfield; publicity director, Mrs. Herbert Chapin of Greenfield; auditor, Mrs. Harriet M. S. Couillard of Greenfield.

The principal guest speaker of the evening was Senator Sybil Holmes. "In the coming fall elections," Sen. Holmes said, "let us see that we do not give ammunition to the other fellow, let us see that we boost, not assail, our own Republican candidates. The procedure this fall will be different from that of the previous four years for the pre-primary has been repealed. We are assured that when a candidate is described as a Republican on the ballot that he is an enrolled member of that party for I do not believe a person can be both a good Republican and a good Democrat at the same time."

Many prominent Republicans attended the dinner and meeting and were called upon for a few brief words of encouragement. Those who attended from Northfield were: Mrs. Ross L. Spencer, Mrs. Frank H. Montague, Mrs. L. A. Polhemus, Mrs. George Thompson, Mrs. Louis Potts, and Mrs. Martin E. Vorce.

The gathering was the opening gun in the political activities of the Republican party in Franklin county which means now to continue its solidarity and effectiveness for the coming state and national elections. Republicanism does not stand for the "New Deal" as now interpreted but rather for the "square deal" in support of business and labor, the open door to opportunity for every man to earn his own living and to enjoy the fruits of his enterprise.

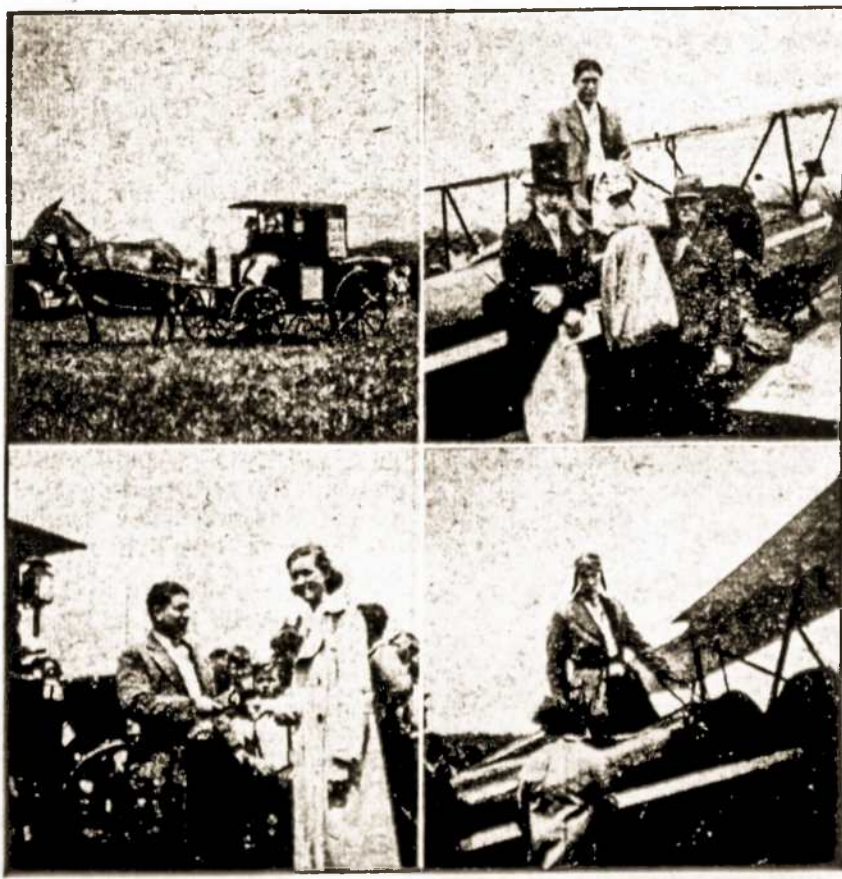

Mount Hermon Church Has Annual Meeting

The 39th annual meeting of the membership of the Mount Hermon Church was held in the "Y" building on the campus of the Mount Hermon school Sunday evening last with a large attendance. Rev. Lester F. White presided. After the reports of the chairman of the various committees had been made and adopted, the chairman of the missionary committee, Harry A. Erickson, gave a short talk on the 54 Hermon missionaries on the foreign field.

Election of officers resulted as follows: moderator, Lester F. White; clerk, Grove Deming; director of church music, Melvin Gallagher; head usher, George Laurence; faculty deacons, Gordon Pyper, Percy Richmond, Howard Niblock and Cyril Sargent; student deacons, Robert Harwood, Charles Terry, M. W. Johnson, Norman Burrill and Walter Spencer; deaconesses, Mrs. Molly Mangana, and Mrs. David Birdsall. The executive committee met and appointed the following as chairmen of committees: pulpit supply, the astor and the headmaster; missionary, Harry A. Erickson; membership, Louis Smith; prayer meeting, the pastor; flowers, Mrs. Albin Franz; junior Sunday School superintendent, Lois Sutherland. A short social period followed the business session.

now collecting many of the various cachets issued throughout the country and proposes to put them in exhibit form so that in the near future our citizens may be given the privilege of viewing them. Air Mail week was surely fittingly observed here.

OUR AIR MAIL MEMORIES

The observance of Air Mail Week in Northfield was centered on Thursday of last week when nearly 2,000 letters were despatched from the post offices of Northfield, East Northfield, South Vernon and Mt. Hermon by an airplane and set forward to their destinations. It was the first direct flight in the mail service from Northfield and attracted much attention and interest here and elsewhere as the press sent photographers here to make pictures of the events in the local program.

The photographs shown above were especially taken for the Northfield Press by Karl Kaufhold of the Youth Hostel. On top left, is the famous old coach of the late Mr. Schell with the horse provided by Lawrence Quinlan, and driven by Henry Johnson attired as Uncle Sam with the mail pouches ready to transfer them to the plane. On the top right is shown Mr. Johnson again with Mr. Lawrence Quinlan the Northfield postmaster and Mr. Van Valkenburg of Mt. Hermon who brought over the mail from that office. Lower left, Mr. Quinlan greets Miss Beverly Briesmaster who won the first prize for her essay on "Wings Across America." Lower right, Postmaster Quinlan, a licensed pilot, ready for the take-off with the mail for Turners Falls airport. Postmaster Merritt C. Skilton had preceded the plane by motor to Turners Falls and was on the field when it arrived, waiting to transfer the load to a government plane flying to Boston. Postmasters Amsden of South Vernon and Streeter of Mount Hermon were on the field here assisting in the "send-off". From East Northfield came the greatest number of letters, 502.

While the four postmasters appointed a number of committees consisting of local folks, to carry out the local arrangements, much credit is due to Mr. Johnson, who is the rural route carrier of one of the deliveries out of the Northfield post office. It was he who "evolved" the local cachet and directed the events. He is

He is joined in similar expressions made by many of our citizens who listened in to the hour.

"WINGS ACROSS AMERICA"
"Many persons are gathered in the waiting room of a large air terminal. Among them is a business man, who chooses to travel by air because time saved is money earned to him. A famous specialist is flying to the coast to perform an emergency operation. Glancing at his watch a newspaper reporter is waiting to board a plane and speed a "scoop" to his paper. Two college students are leaving for their respective schools a thousand miles away. The lower fares have brought air travel within their allowances. A young couple are enjoying the comfort of a planned air cruise. Sightseeing over famous beauty-spots offers a new interest to them. Enthusiastic passengers are a gray-haired lady and a young child both thoroughly sure of the safety and dependability of airline travel.

"Besides the many personal advantages aviation offers, one must consider the great benefit to us as a nation. Airmail service is extremely important to modern communication. The air mail can truthfully boast 'First delivered, first opened, first answered'. Huge transports carry tons of freight and perishable goods. Daily weather maps are made with the aid of airplanes capable of flying at great altitudes. Reports can be then radioed to all parts of the country. Emergency flights save lives in epidemics and disasters. Government men use the airplane in their campaign against crime. Small, easy-to-fly, privately-owned aircraft are being flown on short business or pleasure trips, and longer cross-country flights are increasing steadily. "Within a short period of years aviation has made these achievements. Future wings over America will bring even greater developments in communication by air."

THE COOLERATOR ADVANCED MODERN REFRIGERATION

ONLY COOLERATOR
has the patented Air Conditioning chamber, where the air is washed clean and kept in constant circulation.

UNIFORM COLD IS MAINTAINED WITH JUST THE PROPER AMOUNT OF MOISTURE

FOODS STAY FRESH LONGER AND TASTE BETTER

By another COOLERATOR feature, the ice cake melts from the bottom up. Because the cooling area remains practically constant, there are safe low temperatures in the food compartment whether ice chamber is full or nearly empty. The happy result: for refrigeration purposes and under average conditions, one re-icing every 4 to 7 days is enough.

HOW COOLERATOR WORKS

Perishable foods give off certain odors, or gases, which, when mixed with other foods are objectionable. COOLERATOR tends to eliminate this. Food odors are picked up by a continuous natural flow of air and passed through a patented air-conditioning chamber where they are absorbed by the water from the melting ice and washed away. Cold, healthfully humidified air returns to the food chamber several times each minute. COOLERATOR circulation in one direction is faster and washes the air more thoroughly. COOLERATOR, alone, offers the patented system that gives you ideal air-conditioned refrigeration.

The Royal Cullinans

By Joseph Simmons
Simmons Jewelers
Greenfield

Rough and uncut, the most magnificent diamond in the world lay in the Cullinan diamond working in January, 1905, attracting the eye of the mine manager. He thought it was a piece of ice.

Purchased by public subscription as a gift to King Edward of England, this stone was cut into two of the largest and most perfect diamonds in existence. They are a part of the collection of England's Crown jewels today, flawless in beauty and free of sinister history.

A reputable jeweler can assure you of pride in your purchase of perfect stones.

Open Registration For Red Cross First Aid

The Franklin County chapter, American Red Cross will conduct a first aid instructor training course from May 31 to June 10 inclusive at the Greenfield first aid station. The classes will be held from 7 to 10 every evening and instruction will be given by Commodore W. E. Longfellow, first aid and life saving field representative from the National Red Cross. Students successfully completing this 30-hour course of training will become instructors to conduct the Red Cross junior, standard, and advanced first aid courses. This will be an ideal opportunity for organizations and industries interested in first aid to send representatives to be trained as instructors. These instructors can then be responsible for the first aid training in their particular organization. It is hoped that representatives of such groups as police and fire departments, telephone and electric companies, industries, youth organizations, 4-H clubs, WPA, etc., throughout the county will enroll through the local Red Cross office, 15 Bank Row, immediately.

First aid instructors are required, when opportunity is given, to review the work every two years, so this will be an excellent time for the local first aid instructors to take the training. They should report at the opening session of the class. It would be to their advantage to continue through the entire course and they can be of assistance to Commodore Longfellow in the practical part of the work. Instructors desiring to review should also register with the local Red Cross chapter.

Wilson's Youth Hostel shop opened last Wednesday. On the same day Wilson's devoted part of their morning broadcast over WHAI to a Youth Hostel program which included questions and answers and zither music played by Julius Wahl the house father at Northfield.

EDITORIAL

The Editor desires to express his appreciation to our various Postmasters in the co-operation which was given to the Press in matters of publicity for Air Mail Week. While the Editor also served as Chairman of the Publicity Committee, the affair could not have been made so successful, spectacular and interesting without their active assistance. Special appreciation must be accorded to Henry Johnson who at no small expense to himself produced as fine a chachet as has been seen among the many thousands received here and who carried out the program of the day. Now, Mr. Johnson, turns to making a collection of these chachets. If you have one or more, send them to him. Northfield needs not to be ashamed of its tribute to Air Mail Week.

The State Highway Department displayed mighty poor judgment last week in placing direction signs on the highway, showing the route to "Springfield and Agawam Park." The sign formerly read "Springfield and New York." When the new sign was put up in Greenfield it aroused a storm of protest and other citizens about the county in addition to those residing in Greenfield were indignant. Why shouldn't they be, for everyone knows that Agawam Park is a racing rendezvous, a private enterprise and the ambition of the Highway Department should be justly condemned, for what it endeavored to do. The old signs are now back in position.

Viewing some of the lawns going down through our Main St., it would seem that several property owners are attempting to raise a hay crop, especially on that portion along the highway, in front of their locations which engages the eye of every visitor. It ought to be the ambition of every resident to care for the street lawn and not to depend on the charity of others, the town fathers or some local organization to do the cutting for them. We ought to be willing to do all we can to make the town look well and attractive. In many places this sort of high-way lawn care is provided by an ordinance of the town and the cost assessed to abutting property. It may be a good plan here.

In watching the rather cursory and, as it seems to me, ineffective way in which our trees on Main street are being sprayed the thought occurred to me that we are rather wasting money in having this done.

I am now even more of that opinion since I have heard of various of our finest birds having been found dead on Main street and other town roads on which spraying has been done. One of these birds, a Baltimore Oriole, was taken to Mr. Nelson, the taxidermist at Winchester, who under state law has to inquire into the circumstances surrounding the finding of protected birds and examine those given to him for mounting. The verdict was: poisoning from lead arsenate.

It seems to me that the very cursory spraying, which at best reaches only the outer leaves of the trees, has as its major effect the killing off of those birds, which, like the oriole, are in the habit of feeding on these outer leaves.

Of course, a cynic might comment that that proves the efficiency of the spraying done, for, after all the bird must have gotten its dose of poison somewhere but to me it seems as if a family of orioles with the voracious appetite of their young might be more effective, especially since the oriole is one of the few birds that feed on the tent caterpillar. And, lastly, isn't it perhaps only high-pressure salesmanship on the part of the spraying concerns that tries to inform us that it's better to kill bugs and birds with poison, rather than to let nature take its course and allow the birds to multiply and let them do the killing?

A Bird Lover.
